Dear Administration, Faculty, and Staff;

As an "original intent" Constitutionalist, I am a firm believer that our nation's most precious document should be taught to our youth at an early age. It is extremely important that our students learn that the Founding Fathers meant for the Constitution to be a timeless arbiter of principle and governance in America.

September 17th marks the start of Constitution Week, and I'd like to take this opportunity to encourage teachers across the 10th Congressional District to take an hour out of their lesson plans to help educate students on the importance of the Constitution and its role in the federal government.

Additionally, I would love to hear from students on why the Constitution is important to them and what they have learned about it so far. Please encourage them to write to me at 3706 Atlanta Highway Suite 3-B Athens, GA 30606.

Please tell students that they can also request a pocket-sized copy of the Constitution in their letters to me, and I would be happy to send those along. It's never too early to read and study the Constitution, so please relay that message from their Congressman.

Any questions or request for additional information may be directed to Anna Lee at 706-549-9588.

Sincerely,

Congressman Paul Broun, M.D. (GA-10)
